Essential Reading on the PLA

These are some of the most foundational public studies of China – most people would benefit from starting here:

- Joel Wuthnow et. al, The PLA Beyond Borders: Chinese Military Operations in Regional and Global Context, NDU, 2019 https://ndupress.ndu.edu/Portals/68/Documents/Books/beyond-borders/990-059-NDU-PLA\_Beyond\_Borders\_sp\_jm14.pdf
- Roger Cliff, Roy Kamphausen et.al., Enabling a More Externally Focused and Operational PLA – 2020 PLA Conference Papers (Carlisle Barracks, PA: US Army War College Press, 2022), <https://press.armywarcollege.edu/monographs/951>
- Roy Kamphausen, The People of the PLA 2.0 (US Army War College Press, 2021), <https://press.armywarcollege.edu/monographs/944>

Amphibious Capabilities:

Erickson, Andrew S.; Kennedy, Conor M.; and Martinson, Ryan D., "Study No. 8, Chinese Amphibious Warfare: Prospects for a Cross-Strait Invasion" (2024). CMSI Studies in China Maritime Development. 8.

<https://digital-commons.usnwc.edu/cmsi-studies/8>

Greyzone Operations:

Erickson, Andrew S. and Martinson, Ryan, "Study No. 7, China's Maritime Gray Zone Operations" (2024). CMSI Studies in Chinese Maritime Development. 7. <https://digital-commons.usnwc.edu/cmsi-studies/7>

English Translations of Primary Sources

Key Documents – Don't just let people tell you about how Chinese leaders think – see what they prioritize in some of the most important documents published by the PRC

White Papers & Speeches:

- China's National Defense in the New Era, July 2019
  - Why Read? This official white paper laid out the priorities for the post-2016 reform PLA and remains a useful starting point for understanding China's security priorities
- Xi Jinping's Work Report to the 20th Party Congress
  - Why Read? The Chinese Communist Party Congress Work Reports are somewhat akin to a 'State of the Union' but given every five years and lay out Xi' Jinping's priorities for national development, foreign policy and military affairs through 2027. It is worth reading in its entirety, but you absolutely should read section XII pp 48-50 on the military.

Books:

- The Science of Military Strategy \(2020 Revision\), PRC National Defense University
  - Why read? The Science of Military Strategy is a textbook used by China's National Defense University for senior PLA officer PME and lays out more comprehensive analysis of topics of interest.

China Podcasts & Newsletters

We are all busy with work and our lives but podcasts and newsletters can help keep abreast of important developments

- Drumtower by The Economist - short, less formal and often funny takes by The Economist's China team. Always informative and goes beyond the news to cover cultural issues as well which keeps it interesting. <https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast/drum-tower/id1651657142>
- The China History Podcast - long running series by a businessman who has lived and worked in China for years that covers huge amount of interesting topics. I first started listening to this when I was a grad student in China over a decade ago so there is plenty of content. From the history of Tea to Taiwan (which they did a 15[!] -part series on) they've got you covered - <https://podcasts.apple.com/us/podcast/the-china-history-podcast/id489369498>

Newsletters /Blogs

- Tracking People's Daily which provides detailed analysis of People's Daily (the main CCP mouthpiece newspaper) <https://trackingpeoplesdaily.substack.com/>
- Discourse Power - a great effort by Israeli scholar Tuvia Gering which does detailed analysis of CCP global Information Operations <https://discoursepower.substack.com/>
- US thinktank Center for Naval Analyses now does a semi-regular roundup of important news on the PLA - <https://www.cna.org/our-media/newsletters/pla-update>

Recommended Reading on Taiwan

General Resources

- Excellent collection of resources available on Stanford Prof Kharis Templeman's website <https://www.kharistempleman.com/taiwan-studies-resources.html>

Taiwanese Politics and Society

- Highly Recommended – recent and thorough: Sullivan, Jonathan & Nachman, Lev. Taiwan: A Contested Democracy Under Threat, Agenda Publishing, October 2023
- Bush, Richard C. Difficult Choices: Taiwan's Quest for Security and the Good Life. Brookings Institution Press, 2021.
- For the deepest of dives: Fell, Dafydd. Government and Politics in Taiwan. Taylor and Francis, 2018.

Comment: Blogs, programs and publications wax in wane in quality, frequency of output and even editorial bias. The following are some of the most prominent or easy to access sources on Taiwan but analysis may come with an agenda. Do not take everything on face value

- The University of Nottingham's Taiwan Studies Program has a blog with regular coverage of topics of interest <https://taiwaninsight.org/>
- Global Taiwan Institute is a non-profit with strong links to the DPP. It has regular coverage of mainland and Taiwan security issues. <https://globaltaiwan.org/>
- If you want to learn more about Taiwanese elections I recommend Nathan Batto's blog Frozen Garlic (the title is a pun in Chinese) <https://frozengarlic.wordpress.com>

Exercise caution when accessing foreign websites. When possible, use a VPN and cached versions

Primary Sources in English:

These provide essential snapshots of how Taiwanese military and civilian leadership approach critical issues
