Platoons form a line with interlocking fire sectors.

Each platoon establishes observation posts 100 to 400 meters forward of its position to enhance direct fire support.

Company UAS surveillance extends from the limits of observation posts to approximately 3 kilometers, which corresponds to the range of 60-mm mortars.

Company mortars are positioned near the forward line of troops, ensuring they remain outside the range of enemy direct fire.

The company reserve consists of at least one squad prepared to rapidly reinforce vulnerable sectors.
